VARSITY SHOW TO FEATURE SPRING PARTY WEEK-END

Musical Production To Open Festivities On Friday Evening

TEA DANCES PLANNED

Closed House On Saturday Will Follow Open Parties

Important among the features of Spring House Party next week-end is the first annual musical show of Tally-Ho, newly-formed undergraduate association, which will provide musical and dramatic entertainment for Hamiltonians and their fair guests on Friday evening. The purpose of this organizati n, which is intended to be a permanent one, is to give a show on the Friday evening of each Spring House Party and, although new to Hamilton, is an established institution at many other colleges having organizations of this type.

Other events on the program of the festive week-end include the usual open house dances on Friday evening and closed parties at the various houses on Saturday night. As yet, only one tea dance has been scheduled for Saturday afternoon, that at Emerson Hall, but plans are being made for others. The Emersonians have engaged the Hamilton High Hatters to furnish music on this occasion.

The show to be given by the Tally-Ho Club on Friday evening will be held at the Clinton Town Hall and is scheduled to begin at 8:45. The Town Hall has a capacity of approximately 400 and all seats are to be reserved. Membership in the Tally-Ho Club has been restricted to members of the three upper classes and includes eight charter members who formed the organization shortly before Spring recess.

John H. Niemeyer, '30, is president of the club. Other officers are: John Hadyn Jones, '31, vice-president; Sev-

WILLIAM ROSS LEE

LECTURE SERIES OPENED BY BRAY

William Ross Lee Is Second Speaker On Poly Sci Club Program

An enlightening talk by M. William Bray, Democratic State chairman, in Silliman Hall Monday night, inaugurated a series of three lectures on politics that have been arranged by the officers of the Poltical Science Club.

Mr. Bray outlined the organization of the Democratic party and treated convincingly of its aims, policies, and present endeavors. He concluded his speech with an appealing plea that the audience grant this political body consideration when it enters into civic responsibilities.

The second and third lectures will be given on April 23 and 30, respectively. William Ross Lee, '00, former District Attorney of Utica, will speak on the present party alignment in this country and the situation of Republican forces. As a Republican leader prominent in State affairs, Mr. Lee promises to be one of the most interesting speakers to appear on the Hill this year.

The last lecturer of the series will be Norman S. Thomas ,the foremost figure in the Socialist party in America today. He will present the case for Socialism before the club. All those interested in hearing these political talks are free to attend the meetings.

PI DELT HOLDS INITIAL MEETING

Will Submit Questionnaire Regarding "Royal Gaboon" To Students

The Hamilton chapter of Pi Delta Epsilon, national honorary journalistic fraternity, held its first meeting of the semester on Wednesday evening, March 26, at Emerson Hall. Formal nominations for the editorial and business boards of Hamilton Life and the 1931 "Hamiltonian" were made by David H. Beetle, '30, and Lewis M. Marvin, '31, respectively.

The Hamilton "Mirror" was recognized by Pi Delta Epsilon and was voted into the chapter. The status of the "Royal Gaboon" was taken into consideration at the meeting, those attending holding a discussion as to whether or not the "Gaboon" is representative of the College and if it should be censured by Pi Delta Epsilon. It was decided to prepare a questionnaire, which will be submitted to the college body, before definite action is taken.

The chapter nominated Jefferson F. Meagher, '31, as its delegate to the twentieth annual convention of Pi Delta Epsilon, held at Penn State College, April 3, 4 and 5. The convention was opened by a smoker at the Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity house on April 3, at which the national officers gave their yearly reports. Business sessions and entertainment occupied the delegates on the other days.

Sixty delegates, reprsenting 44 chapters from all over the country, were present. Norman Baxter, editor of the Washington Post and president of the National Press Club, was a principal speaker.

Announcement of the engagement of James F. Wardwell, '31, to Miss Barbara Haselton of Rome was announced at a dinner party given for the couple during the spring recess.

MEN CHOSEN TO CAPTAIN TWO SPORTS

Crowley To Head Basketball Team On Which He Has Starred

IS THREE - LETTER MAN

Wilson Elected Leader Of Hockey For Coming Season

As a result of the elections held a few days before the spring recess, Francis J. Crowley will captain next year's basketball team and Robert L. Wilson will lead the hockey squad. Each has seen two years of intercollegiate competition in the sport he has been chosen to lead.

Crowley was a member of the football, basketball and baseball squads his sophomore year, earning a letter in each of these sports. He was also president of his class as a sophomore, and is a member of the Honor Court.

Crowley is on both the Hamilton Life and the "Hamiltonian" boards, and is in the cast of the Latin play now being produced under the direction of Professor Chase. He has been elected to three honorary societies while at Hamilton, the Quadrangle Club, D. T. and Was Los, and is a member of the Chi Psi Fraternity.

Wilson has played on the football and hockey teams both his sophomore and junior years, and was high scorer on the latter squad this season. He holds the position of Business Manager of Hamilton Life for 1930-31, and has been on the intercollegiate debate team for two years. He is a member of the Quadrangle Club, D. T., and Was Los, and of the Sigma Phi fraternity.

WILSON SPEAKS AT CONVENTION

Addresses Sportsmanship Brotherhood Meeting At Syracuse

Robert Wilson, '31, captain-elect of the hockey team, and Coach Albert I. Prettyman represented Hamilton College at the fifth annual conference of the New York State Chapters of the Sportsmanship Brotherhood held in Slocum Hall, at the University of Syracuse on Friday, March 28.

The gathering was attended by six college delegates and representatives from 58 secondary schools, as well as 24 coaches and school officials. Wilson, who was one of the six speakers to address the meeting, spoke on "Sportsmanship."

Considerable progress has been made by the Sportsmanship Brotherhood since its organization. It has been fostering the spirit of fair play and good sportsmanship in high schools and prep schools throughout the country. It is now trying to get more colleges and universities interested in its program.

ATTEND CONVENTION

M. Cayley Smith, Jr., '31, and Edward L. Stevens, Jr., '30, members of the Psi Upsilon fraternity, represented the Hamilton chapter at the ninety-seventh annual convention of Psi Upsilon, held at Yale during the spring vacation period. Beta chapter was host to the delegates representing the twenty-seven active chapters in the fraternity.

NEW STAFF TAKES OVER HILL PAPER

Meagher and Carberry Chosen In Competition To Head "Life"

MOORE IS CARPE EDITOR

Three Freshmen Reporters Are Added At Board Meeting

Jefferson F. Meagher, '31, was elected editor-in-chief of Hamilton Life, at a meeting of the board following Chapel March 27. At the same meeting Kenneth S. Carberry, '31, was elected managing editor; Francis J. Crowley, '31, associate editor; and Lucas M. Boeve, '31, and Lewis M. Marvin, '31, assistant editors.

Election, in each case, followed recommendation by the retiring editor, David H. Beetle, '30, and approval by the local chapter of Pi Delta Epsilon. Vernon A. Ives, '30, retiring managing editor, and Frederick N. Davis, '30, retiring associate editor, both concurred in the recommendations.

Appointment followed competition which was started in April of last year with seven men competing. This number was reduced to three by late fall, and of this group, one, Francis J. Crowley, had privately requested some time before the competitive issues were published, that he did not wish to be considered for either of the first two places, inasmuch as participation in three sports would prevent him from doing justice to the work.

The new editor is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon, Pi Delta Epsilon, the 1931 "Hamiltonian" board, the debating team, the Press Board, winner of the 1928-29 national Pi Delta Epsilon best news-story contest, past president of his class, and president of the Political Science Club. Mr. Carberry, the new managing editor, is a member of the Emerson Literary Society, the Press Board, the 1931 "Hamiltonian" Board, the "Mirror" Board, and Pi Delta Epsilon. Mr. Meagher has been a member of the Life staff since freshman year, and Mr. Carberry since sophomore year.

James W. Moore, '31, has been appointed Carpe Diem editor by Mr. Meagher, on the recommendation of Mr. Sewell, retiring columnist, editor of the "Gaboon." The new editor, Mr. Moore, is a member of Alpha Delta Phi and of the "Gaboon" board.

Coincident with the editorship elections, three new freshmen were added to the board, Henry H. Work, Jr., and Herman F. Schilz of Emerson Literary Society, and Edward North Main of Decagon.

CHOIR CONCERT GIVEN AT WELLS

Recital In Conjunction With Wells Choristers Is Last Of Season

Concluding its spring recitals for 1930, with the exception of the annual appearance at Commencement, the choir, under the direction of Professor Paul A. Fancher, gave a concert last night in conjunction with the Wells College Choir in the Chapel of Wells College.

The program included selections from Palestrina, Bach, Lvov, Beltjens, Christiansen, Buxtehude, Fisher, Warrell and Brahms.

Members of Musical Art Society Present Exceptional Program At Annual Recital

Greeted by an enthusiastic audience, the Musical Art Society offered a program of numbers by members of the organization at the Psi Upsilon House Sunday evening.

Some of the most finished offerings of an enjoyable evening were the piano solos of Professor Berrian R. Shute and Robert J. Hicks, '33. The outstanding selection of the former was the "Great Gate of Kievre" of Moussorgsky. This tremendously intricate work was executed with admirable precision. Professor Shute substituted in the absence of Alaric R. Bailey, '30, who was to have appeared on the program. Mr. Hicks has a technique rarely possessed by undergraduates. His handling of the "Intermezzo in Octaves' 'of Leschetizky was very effective.

In the absence of Robert P. Carpenter, '30, Professor Paul A. Fancher sang five baritone solos. "Triste est la Steppe" of Gretchaninoff was effectively given. Mary E. D. Patterson was at the piano.

"Am Sonntag Morgen," a descriptive number of Brahms, was well interpreted by Doris Nash Wortman, who also sang two other numbers.

The last movement (Molto Allegro) of Borodin's Symphony No. 1, E Flat Minor, was given by Professor Lewis H. Gordon and Robert George Phelps, '32. William H. Corwin, '33, accompanied by William B. Mason, '33, offered two cello solos by Nolck.

The program ended with the singing of the College Choir. Of its numbers, "O Holy Jesu, Prince of Peace," Lvov; and Brahms' "Mien Madel hat einen Rosenmund," arranged by Mrs. Mary E. D. Patterson, were outstanding.

LATIN PLAYERS TRIUMPH IN NEW YORK AND AT PRINCETON

Audience of 1,500 Gathers In Hunter College Chapel For Event

LAUDED AT PRINCETON

Hill Performance Scheduled To Take Place Next Monday

(Special to Hamilton Life)

New York City, April 14—Before an audience of 1,500 in Hunter College Auditorium Friday night, Hamilton College Latin Players gave their initial performance of the year. The play, "Menaechmi" by Plautus, was received with unusual enthusiasm which merited high praise from the hundreds of classicists throughout the Metropolitan section.

The success was followed up Monday night by an appearance in the beautiful half-million dollar theater at Princeton University, where the Hamilton players gained the honor of being one of the few amateur dramatic organizations to perform upon its stage. The house was practically sold out for the performance.

Professor Chase Lauds Cast

According to Cleveland K. Chase, coach, the cast was the most capable ever to be chosen in the history of Hamilton Latin plays. Every member of the company enjoyed high praise for their individual efforts.

Francis J. Crowley and Herbert A. Knox were outstanding as the twin-heroes, with the latter reaching his greatest heights in a drunken scene. William A. Jarrett doubled convincingly in the prologue and as Messenio, and Francis Schue made the biggest hit of the day with an interpretation of the shrew-wife which threw the audiences into uproarious applause. Samuel A. Ives, Chauncey Cowles, Latimer B. Senior and Robert Kerr all performed major parts excellently, as did Alexander Soper, '25, the only non-undergraduate participating. Mr. Soper, at present located at Princeton, made his third consecutive appearance with Hamilton Latin Players in the role of the flute-player.

The play proved to be especially well chosen. Its plot, which was copied and given to a less erudite world in the "Comedy of Errors," is such that a meagre understanding of Latin proved sufficient for an adequate understanding of the action.

According to Dr. Chase, he has had a number of invitations to present the play at other colleges. He does not believe, however, that any of these can be accepted. A performance will be given on the Hill next Monday night in the Hall of Commons.

The Hunter College performance was sponsored by the New York Classical Club, representing every Metropolitan higher educational institution. Many Hamilton Alumni were present at both performances. At Princeton, the players were entertained at the Elm Club.

WOOD RECOVERS FROM ILLNESS

Expects To Return To Hill Soon To Resume Class Work

Dr. Frank H. Wood, who intended to be on the Hill at the close of the Spring Recess, has decided to prolong his stay in Florida for another two weeks. Because of the weather conditions at Hamilton his physicians do not advise an abrupt removal from the South and therefore he is planning to come North slowly, stopping at Asbury Park and Atlantic City on the way.

Dr. Wood's health has been greatly improved by his trip to the South and by the weather in Florida. He is at present staying at the Virginia Hotel in Winter Park, Florida. It is expected that he will be able to take over his classes again upon his return.

BOWDOIN DEBATE NEXT ON FORENSIC SCHEDULE

Union Speakers Heard On Hill Tuesday Night

With the holding of the annual debate with Union College last night in the Chapel, Hamilton speakers are focusing their attention on the meeting with Bowdoin College which will take place on the Hill on Wednesday evening, April 23.

Hamilton will uphold the negative of the question, "Resolved, That New York State should undertake the generation and transmission of hydro-electric power to be derived from the St. Lawrence." This is the same question which was debated last night, but Hamilton will be speaking on the opposite side.

William Jarrett, Alaric Bailey, both of '30, John Howard, '32, and Joseph Strawbridge, '33, alternate, will be the Hill representatives in the Bowdoin debate. Last night the Hamilton speakers were Colemar Nichols, '30, Albert Redmond, '31, Robert Wilson, '31, and Arthur Chambers, '33, alternate.

POSITIVELY, THE LAST

At this station, the 1929-30 editorial staff climbs wearily down from the driver's seat. We have turned over the wheel, we are sure, to thoroughly competent chauffeurs and the machine can be expected to chug merrily on until April blizzards again cover the Hill with snow. Following an old custom, probably not Scotch, we have been asked to climb in back and ride happily forward as far as Commencement. This, of course, relegates us to the role of back-seat driver, in which we will have about as much influence in controlling the car as is customarily enjoyed from that position. And rightly so. We fully understand the abominations of back-seat drivers; so much so, that we wonder why we are taken in at all. The answer is tradition; or, in other words, "the king has spoken."

We would not behave like human beings if, in parting, we did not pass on a few ponderous words of advice. The same would probably be true of the new staff, if it really accepted them. But we are not going to let Buddha's refusal to wink interfere with the full joy with which we bring out gifts. Advice, it must be.

The first thing to remember is that perfection on College Hill is not especially desirable. (It is also not obtainable, but we are only out to advise our confreres; not to discourage them). We must have a few things on College Hill that are actually ridiculous in order that we may have amusement; something on the order of the tassels on the caps of Clark Prize orators which get in the way of every gesture, but which are valuable because they add a seasoning of humor. And Heaven knows that is where the seasoning is certainly needed! If it were not for the annual antics of the honor societies, the ballot-repartee of class elections, traditional fraternal austerities, idiosyncracies and weaknesses; student-faculty grudges, ditches across the campus, incunabula, North College or dogs in Chapel, we would probably bore ourselves to death and blow away. Which, all in all, would probably be a rather bad thing for the college!

But since our contract indicates that we are supposed to be editorial-writers and not amateur columnists, it is probably high time that we threw in a few polysyllabic words (which adjective describes itself, if one ever did), as well as a paragraph or two that no one can understand; or would want to.

Seriously, there are many changes which Hamilton would find of immense benefit. Some of them, such as a "comfortable" reading room in the library, a new and adequate gymnasium, a concrete sidewalk up the Hill and further revisions in the public speaking program, are too obviously necessary to require more than mention at this time.

We might add, however, that there is a crying necessity for a thorough consideration as well as an effective solution of the Neutral problem—which, we still persist in calling a "problem." Regardless of whether or not the non-fraternity men furnished a problem at the time when the majority of our alumni readers were in college, they do today. The Alumni Rgister for 1929-30 reveals that there were 88 non-fraternity men in college at the time of publication. At present, this group, numbering about one-fifth of the undergraduates, has no common gathering place more attractively fitted for entertainment purposes than the average street railway station. It seems to have the further disadvantage, which is certainly by no means applicable to even railway stations, that refreshments may not be served there by non-fraternity groups. Further, one-fifth of the college has no place where it could suitably entertain women guests; or, for that matter, save in the dormitory rooms, there is no place where non-fraternity men can enjoy any social communication of their own. And the conditions above set forth are equally effective as applied to all non-fraternity alumni, and especially so at Commencement time.

The above, however, only partially covers the problem. For certain rather obvious reasons, North College has become largely the stamping ground of non-fratrnity men, both in a literal and figurative sense. The result has been that the general tenor of student life there smacks more of an army barracks in time of a flood than it does of the results of higher education. It seems quite evident that its occupants treat the building as though it were "old" rather than as though it were "venerable." Certainly, the conditions there, and, probably in the neutral body as a whole, are far from conducive to the interests which demand adequate social facilities for non-fraternity men . They indicate, if anything, that at present a suitable Union Building might involve rather than settle the problem.

The answer to the whole question is an improvement in the personnel of each succeeding class by more carefully controlled admissions, all of which dmands an increase in the number of applicants. We understand that such a need has already been realized, and that a movement is under way which would strengthen the adequacy of college publicity measures. That is exactly what we advocate as the beginning of a solution to the Neutral problem. Whether the ultimate end will be a realization by the college of its social obligations in the way of Union Building facilities as has been the case in Cornell, Rochester, Union and St. Lawrence, and partially so at Amherst; or whether it will be entirely through student action in the formation of more fraternities, we do not know. We favor the former and consider it the only solution that will actually prove to be "ultimate."

With which observation, we settle ourselves comfortably in the back seat!

Star Athlete Reports For Diamond Service

LaRue G. "Risky" Morris, captain-elect of football, who was forced to retire from athletics early in the 1929-30 basketball season, reported to Coach Mox A. Weber for baseball last week. A lessening of the ailment which forced his retirement from basketball has been noted to such an extent that the versatile star, under doctor's directions, can once more participate in sports.

The fact that Morris will be able to play baseball, however, does not mean that he will be able to play football next year, nor does he have assurance of playing on the basketball team.

ATKINS AND WESTON PAY VISIT TO HILL

Richard A. Atkins, '29, Phi Beta Kappa, and Harry P. Weston, '29 were back on the Hill last week. Mr. Atkins is engaged in teaching English at Mercersburg Academy.

Mr. Weston has recently returned from Europe where he passed the winter traveling with Wallace B. Johnson, '15.

CHARLATANS MAKE TWO ROAD TRIPS

Present Gogol's Comedy Before Rochester and Rome Audiences

Completing their Spring engagements, the Charlatans journeyed to Rochester on March 22, and to Rome on the 26th, to present "The Inspector-General" of Gogol on their first trips off the Hill in two years.

On their road trip to Rochester the Hill dramatists were entertained at the homes of Hamilton alumni. Mr. and Mrs. Fay, the parents of Robert Fay, '33, were influential in having the players received in Rochester. The presentation of the play was under the auspices of the local Hamilton Alumni Association and the College Women's Club.

The Charlatans motored to Rome the following week and were welcomed by a large audience in the Rome High School auditorium. After the performance, the cast attended a dance in the school gymnasium.

In both the Rochester and Rome performances, the same players appeared as when the comedy was produced in the Hall of Commons on February 10.

5000-kilowatt turbine-generator installed in 1903 at the Fisk Street station of the Commonwealth Edison Company, Chicago

When Small Machines Were Big

MORE than a quarter century ago, the Commonwealth Edison Company, prophetically alive to the immense possibilities of the future, ordered from General Electric a 5000-kilowatt steam turbine—in those days a giant of electric power.

To-day, a General Electric turbine-generator of 208,000-kilowatt capacity sends out its vast energy to the Chicago Metropolitan District.

College-trained men played a responsible part in the engineering and manufacture of both machines—just as they serve in important capacities in the engineering, production, and distribution of all General Electric equipment, large or small.

CARPE DIEM

SWAN SONG IN A MAJOR KEY

The king is dead. Long live the king. Carpe is making his farewell address right now. Don't try to read between the lines. The lines themselves are bad enough. Positively not a parody of a K. P. oration.

Friends, Faculty, Funsters:

There comes a time in the career of every Carpe Diem Editor when he either graduates or gets kickd out. At any rate a new Carpe appears on the scene. This is one of those times. Prepare to weep.

Before taking farewell of my beloved army I must perforce of custom say a few words about some of those cohorts who have proven themselves to be particularly valuable. With whom shall I start? With my old buddy, Haisty-Haisty, of course. Many thanks, Haisty, for doing all those cute tricks for us. When Supe quits, you can be officially elected to the job of Faculty Jester. Don't look for too much publicity next year though. Wisewell is funny too, and mayhaps he will have a big season on the local lampoons-and-laughs circuit.

Then I must pay my devoirs to those old stand-bys. Just Tennie, and Harmon and Magnificent. What will life around this place be like without Harmon, Hartman and Frazzle. Don't despair though, my good friends, for Tennie and Evil Ohman, the Lyons Nozzle Boy, will still be here, probably for yars and yars. Oh yes, and there is Tony Cosentino. He'll be among the missing. Hamilton's loss is Yale's gain.

This issue is also the first and last in which we have had an opportunity to pay tribute to the humorous qualities of Scoutmaster Beetle, the Demon Reporter and former editor of this great journal of misinformation. Three cheers and a purple necktie for Davie, the Demon Reporter. Davie is a great man even if he wouldn't publish our sketches from life of the Union game as we saw it.

Now my friends, let us pause for a few moments of silent thought of one who is absent from our ranks. Our sadness is for the Green Visor, Colonel Milledge Bonham. My what a treat next year's freshmen are in for with the Big Noise from Baton Rouge back from his European tour with a new and snappy lot of anecdotes. But our correspondence with Loquacious Louis has helped us to stand his protracted absence. (Let's start a collection to buy a protractor).

Nor can we neglect to say "just a few words" about our old pal, The Buxom Professor of Wretched Roaratory. Neither can he as a general rule. The distinguished author of American Speech has long graced this column with his oral contributions and we are no whit less indebted to him than are our predecessors. And that's saying a lot. Perhaps the genial Cal gets it in the neck more as the outward symbol of those courses which teach the art of lying eloquently and undergraduate disgust with them, than for his own little peccadilloes. To his assistant toreadors we also wish a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

We must pause to explain that the reason we so seldom mention the professors of whom we take courses is not because we are trying to do any negative souping, but because we are forced to laugh with them, not at them. This is not negative souping, either.

When we first started editing Carpe, we resolved to keep out all puns, but one day one slipped in, and everybody liked it. We soon discovered that dear old Hamilton, sophisticated as it may be ,likes nothing better than a few lousy puns. So we will end our swan song with a stanza by one Robert Herrick that we culled from our lit book. Look for the pun. Also note the Carpe Diemishness of it all.

"While fates permit us, let's be merry:
Pass all we must the fatal ferry;
And this our life too whirls away
With the rotation of the day."

* * * * * *

Thus endeth our Farewell to Puns.

"SO, MY PROUD BEAUTY, YOU WOULD REPULSE ME, EH?" barked DALTON
"I would indeed," said the fairest flower of the countryside. "And how!"
"What is there about me, gal, to bring this disfavor down upon my head?" he demanded.
"Your voice, sir," she answered him haughtily. "The man who wins my heart must smoke OLD GOLDS in kindness to his throat—and to his listeners."

NEUTRALS DEFEAT DEKES TO WIN BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT

Gain Championship Cup By Victory In Final Game Of Series

KUCZYCKE HIGH SCORER

Delta Upsilon and Alpha Delta Phi In Semi-Finals

The Neutrals defeated the Dekes 18-12, in the final match of the Interfraternity Basketball Championship Tournament which was played Saturday, March 22. By virtue of the victory the Neutrals received the Deke Basketball Championship Trophy, which was won last year by the Emerson Literary Society.

Teamwork and fast breaking, combined with good shooting, brought the championship to the Neutrals. Kuczycke and Anderson starred in all four games, doing most of the scoring.

Alpha Delts Lose

The line-up for the finals was, for the winners: Krukowski, right forward ;Cosentino, left forward; Anderson, center ;Scarpitto, right guard; Kuczycke, left guard. The line-up for the losers was: Bailey, right forward; Prentiss, left forward; Ayers, center; Hosmer, right guard; and Lester, left guard.

In the first of the semi-final matches which were played the previous Wednesday, the Neutrals defeated Alpha Delta Phi, 24-14. Kuzzycke tallied 13 points, while his teammate, Anderson, chalked up seven points. J. Jones scored seven points for the Alpha Delts.

Kuczycke Receives Cup

Delta Kappa Epsilon crushed Delta Upsilon, 20-6, in the other semi-final match. In the first half neither team could penetrate the other team's defense. The half ended with the Dekes leading, 8-6. In the second half the Dekes found the basket and scored 12 points while holding D. U. scoreless. Prentiss was high-scorer for the winners with six points.

At the last college meeting, Kuczycke, captain of the Neutrals, received the Basketball Trophy on behalf of the Neutrals.

Chapel Peanut Spree Prompts Divorce Action

A bag of peanuts, eaten noisily in the College Chapel while Elihu Root was making an address at Commencement in 1924, may cause Thomas J. Meehan, wealthy New York lawyer and father of Francis Meehan, '24, to lose his wife.

The younger Mr. Meehan's affidavit, in support of his mother's suit, charged that his father publicly humiliated his mother. It is alleged that while Elihu Root was delivering an address to undergraduates and alumni in the Chapel, Mr. Meehan, Sr., entered with Mrs. Meehan and sat in one of the pews.

"Solely for the purpose of humiliating my mother," says the affidavit, "he brought with him a bag of peanuts which he proceeded to crack with a loud noise and eat in the presence of the assembly, causing himself to be the cynosure of all eyes and both me and my mother to feel extremely embarrassed."

Mr. Meehan, Sr., did not deny the allegation.

HILL FENCERS ARE ELIMINATED

Niemeyer Is Only Hamilton Swordsman To Qualify At West Point

Competition at the semi-finals of the northern division of the Intercollegiate Fencers' Association held at West Point April 4 and 5 proved too strong for the Buff and Blue swordsmen ,and Captain Niemeyer was the only member of the squad to qualify for the finals at New York.

The entire foils team was expected to have little difficulty in qualifying, but an unlooked-for defeat by Cornell turned back the Buff and Blue fencers. Hamilton lost a close decision to Cornell in the opening meet of the season and later defeated the Red team in a triangular encounter with Yale.

Best turned in a creditable performance in the foils bouts, winning seven of his twelve matches and failing to qualify by only one bout. Hancock in the epee, was the only other Hamilton swordsman to win a majority of his bouts.

Each of the matches lost by the foils team was dropped by the narrowest of margins, the score in every instance being 5-4. The epee bouts were also much closer than the score indicates. The sabre proved the weakest weapon, and the team failed to win a match.

The summary:

Foils: Hamilton won from Boston College, 7-2; lost to Army, 5-4; to Cornell, 5-4; N. Y. U., 5-4. Won 1, lost 3.

Team standing: Army won 4, lost 0; Boston College won 0, lost 4; Cornell won 3, lost 1; Hamilton won 1, lost 3; N. Y. U. won 2, lost 2. Teams to qualify, Army and Cornell.

Epee: Hamilton won from Army, 3-1; lost to Boston College, 3-1; to Cornell, 3-1; to N. Y. U., 3-1. Won 1, lost 3.

Team standing: Cornell won 4, lost 0; Army won 2, lost 2; N. Y. U. won 2, lost 2; Hamilton won 1, lost 3,and Boston College won 1, lost 3. Teams to qualify, Cornell and Army.

And words can't tell you much about Chesterfield's taste. Tobacco quality, mild fragrance, character — these are only words, until you've tried Chesterfield; after that, three words say it all:
